

India's AI ecosystem, assembled.

ABAIA is a national, non-profit association assembling the people who build, buy, back and study AI in India – founders, professionals, enterprises and investors – into one working network.

Public understanding

Webinars, events and workshops that make AI legible – to the people building with it and the public living with it.

Collaboration

A working network of AI startups and professionals who share problems, introductions and what actually worked.

Enterprise adoption

Concrete use cases for AI inside enterprise workflows, connecting companies that need them to builders who ship them.

Startup funding

Backing promising AI startups with capital from an angel network of operators and partners who become customers.

Five working programmes.

Sessions & talk shows

Practitioner-first convenings – selling AI to enterprises, agentic AI, India's global AI narrative – with guests from Indian and global operators.

Marketplace

AI firms and products listed because they asked to be, and a person checked the request. Free to list; no fee can buy a position. abaia.org/partners

ABAIA Angels

An informal network of 25+ operator-investors backing early-stage AI companies building from India. Paid POCs over promises.

Membership

One application, reviewed by a person. Approved members appear on the register ABAIA shares with IIDA – one membership, published on both sites.

Deep-tech research: IIDA

ABAIA's Focused Research Organization turns deeptech research into IP, products and exports. It publishes its scoreboard, zeros included. iidalabs.org
